

Delhi, India, so colorful and so vibrant. This city captured my imagination and gave me inspiration to pen down my myriad thoughts. The historical wonders in this city bemused me. Any Diliwala will point out to you its multifaceted attractions.

Impressive is the Qutub Minar, a 73 m-high tower of victory, built in 1193 by Qutab-ud-din Aibak. The Lal Quila, the Old Fort and its state of art son-et –lumière shows, picnics around the Tomb_of _Humayun, visits to the Lotus Temple ( A temple for all religions .The sense of peace one feels here, rivals none other) still resonate fresh in my mind.

Coffee House at Baba Kharak Singh Marg and its mouth watering Idli, Dhosa, Sambhar, Dilli Haat where many a salwar kameez, bangles, danglers and others items were purchased and are still my favourite items of choice today. Chandni Chow's occasional visits, and the chaotic scenes played out here every evening by food lovers is just something one needs to see. Food and sweets here is just so, good that the Sev Ki Barfi, Ghewar, Karachi Halwa and Samosas made by Kishan Lal Halwai at 7pm, vanishes within the hour.

“Those were the days my friend, we thought would never end.”
